Design for Life

Under the corner of the stars, under the corner of the sun fermented into eternity
there lies a precious moment of time we call life.
A gift of Creation.
We are given minds to discover,
talent to create,
curiosity to gain knowledge,
insight to build,
emotions to communicate our feelings,
and movement through our physical body.

Open your gift!

To My Fellow Graduates,

Though the year is over, and it is time to part, we wait patiently to continue our future dreams and aspirations. After these four years, we have been taught to become greater persons, and so far we have been successful in completing the best years of our school career. Some of us will go directly to College, or the Industry, or perhaps to the Military Service. The words to remember throughout life are "Determination" and "Confidence". Therefore, whatever you choose to do, always do it to the best of your ability. I also hope that when you look back on these pages, you keep the good memories of Fashion High in your heart forever.

Good luck to my Favorite class.

Love,
Kioka Jones

Special Thanks for Making One "Senior Trip" Happen

Dear Friends,

These last four years have significantly shaped our lives. As the graduating class of "84" we deserve congratulations for striving to achieve perfection in each of our chosen fields. This Senior yearbook is a graphic record of our finer moments in the never ending pursuit of excellence in the field of Fashion.

Good luck in the future, I hope we will always remember Senior year '83-'84.

Love, S.O. President

LIFE

Life is a twisted road
Filled with obstacles along it's endless trail
Challenging your strength, testing your faith
Urging you to pursue your journey.

Geraldine Soloman

Today, as I get up
I'll have eternal life,
Today, I'll be happier than I've ever been before.
I'll overcome my fears and accomplish many things.
Today, I'll look after my parents the way they've always looked after me.
As the day comes to an end
I'll offer the world a smile
And I'll be a different person satisfied with what I'll do at sunrise.

Eagle

I stood on the edge of the cliff.
The ocean looked quite massive.
I looked into emerald water
And took a step back — the rock was hotter.
I looked down stepping to the edge —
There was no hedge.
My body took a dive,
and I came into another life.
I spread out my wings
And feeling like a heavenly thing
I moved graciously, powerfully,
Breathing in the molten air and gazing watchfully.
Falling down I felt like an eagle,
Seeing the silver fish and the seagull.
Closing my strong wings and tired eyes
I hit the cool water which brought me back to life.

Irina Belkin

The Swan

I came to the pond to feed the swans, putting my feet into the brilliant and war water of the pond. The birds knew me and weren't afraid to come close. They we so close that I could even stroke their feathers.

And as I was softly touching the feathers of a white swan, I began to chang my neck growing longer, my nose and jaws becoming a whole, my dress turnin into white feathers. I with my webbed feet splashed into the water which cooled n body. I was the white swan, being touched by my own hands, feeling the warm and love. My brown eyes became onyx and stony and watchful. I felt the gra and imperial motion of my body. I was the white swan; the creature of the water the sky.

And then it all began to go away from me; became a distant memory and came back and saw myself standing in the water with my hair down and my whit summer dress wet.

Irina Belk

The years
like the passing minutes in a day have long passed,
since my puppy was born.
It has taken many hours and much love till this furry bundle grew to its full height.

She has experienced many adventures,
and has grown warm with pleasant memories.
They run wildly in front of her as if time has never stopped.
She was halfway to silence — to the land where no one is formed halfway to the end of life.
then,
As if the clock struck midnight,
I heard her plea for life and joy again.
Then I realized that we would go on together,
all the way to silence.

So, as she grows with me,
she becomes part of my life and my soul;
she makes me love,
and I feel love.

Now that we are together,
I will stop the earth and the sun
so that I may run through the fields of life with my puppy.

AFTER

The Giant Staircase

There is a staircase,
With four large steps,
and many little ones
to reach each large step.
You've sweated up to the top of the first step Three left,
and you are eager to finish.
You've hung on,
making it to the top of the second.
Two left,
you feel more confident.
Struggling,
You've made it to the top of the third.
Overwhelmed with your success you're determined to reach the top of the fourth step;
It seems like forever,
But!,
finally you're there!
Now, it's your turn,
to run, and yell with pride.
Something snaps and you've Suddenly realized, you've completed what seemed like an everlasting task.
And now,
the gate has opened for you to exit.
For you have successfully climbed: The Giant Staircase.

As the overture of loneliness enraptures my soul.

Evelyn Wong

My four post brass canopy bed and I have traveled and crossed those barriers of times gone by.
I have floated with rising stars and traveled along with bursting comets throwing light afar.
I have been heralded queen of the land taken care of those teddy bears of young children lost long ago.
The chance of being romanced by a Knight of the Round Table has been mine, although just for a night.
The chance to have sailed the great seas of yesteryear has been mine Sailed a course with young and old
to adventure's beckon call.
Rest assured my young friend
For tonight will be when imagination is our key to the door of dreams.
Just
my dreams, teddy and me.

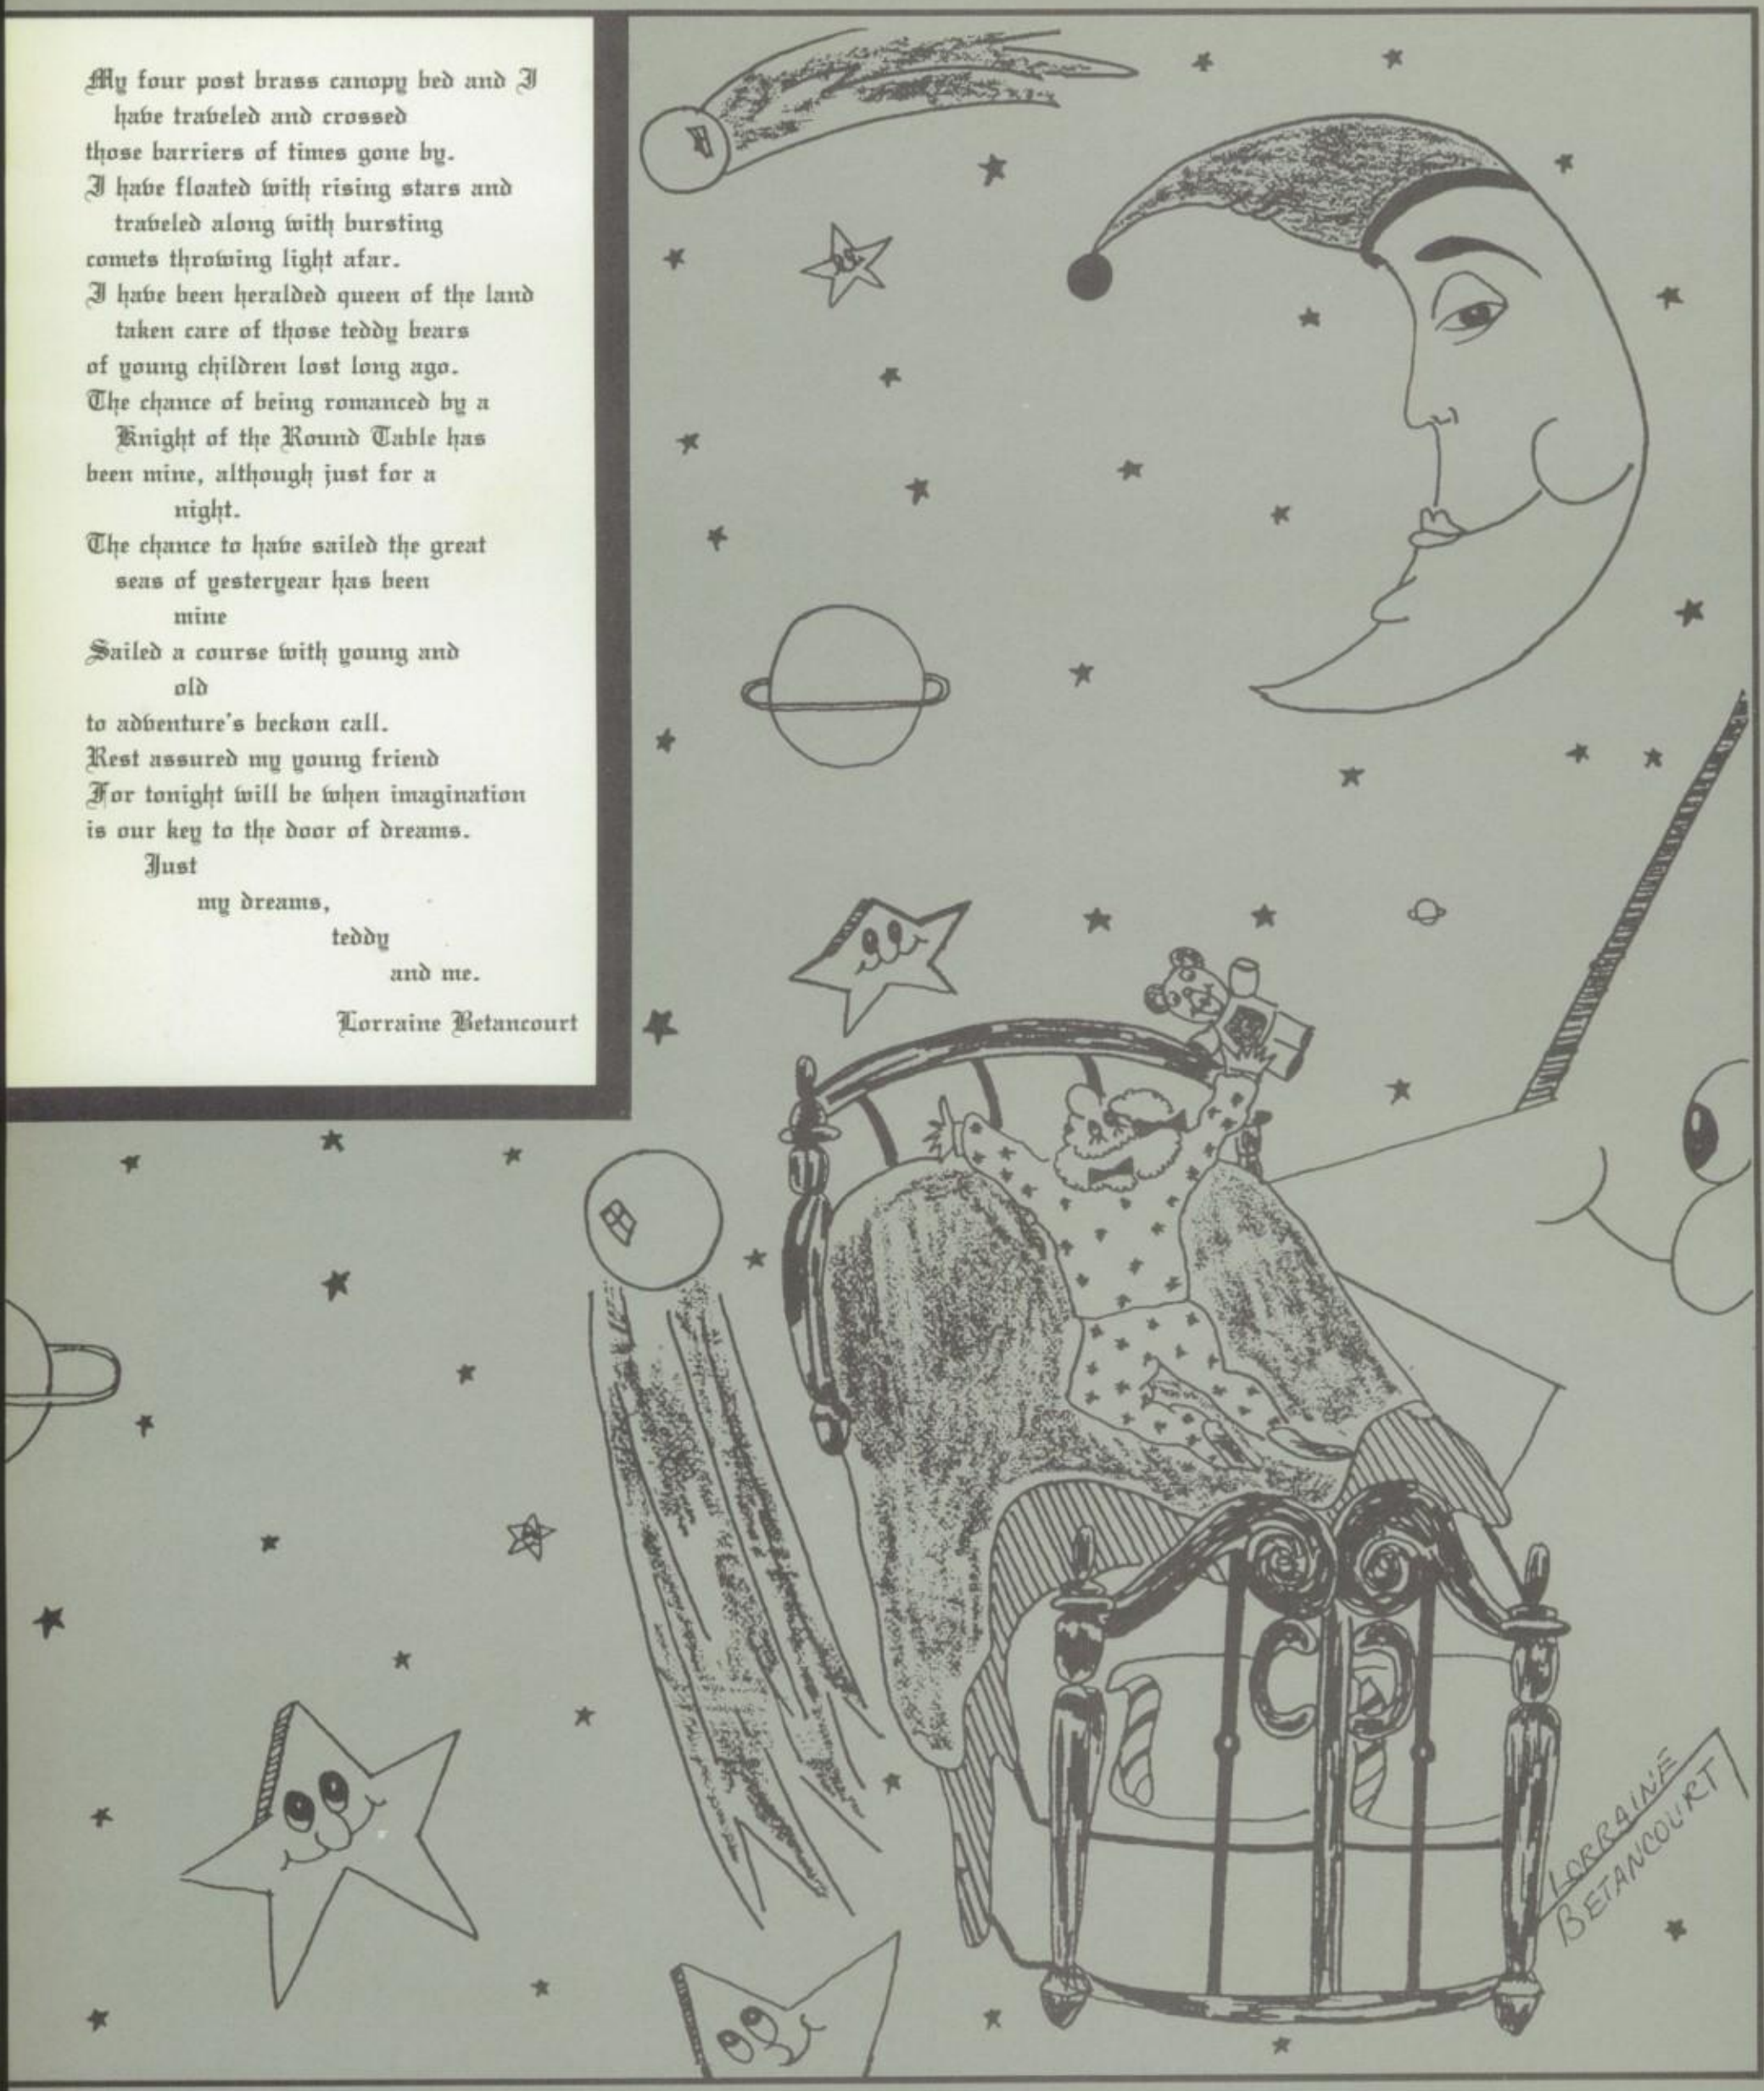
Lorraine Betancourt



When it's all over
I'll be leaving,
trailing
my tracks
to the door to find darkness and Cold
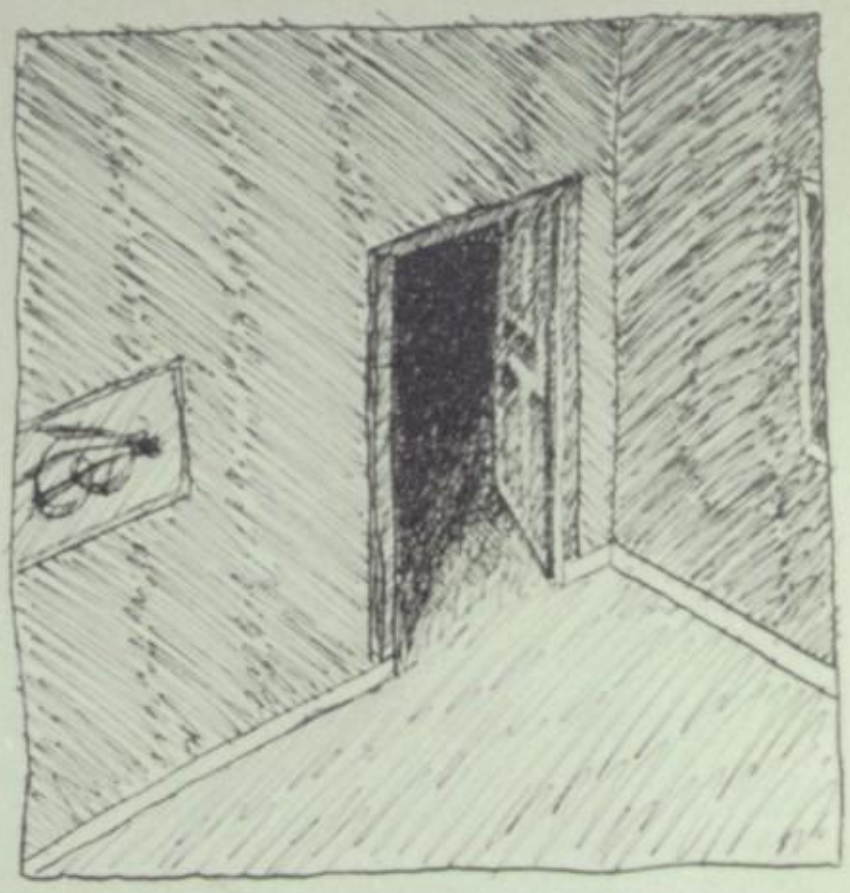
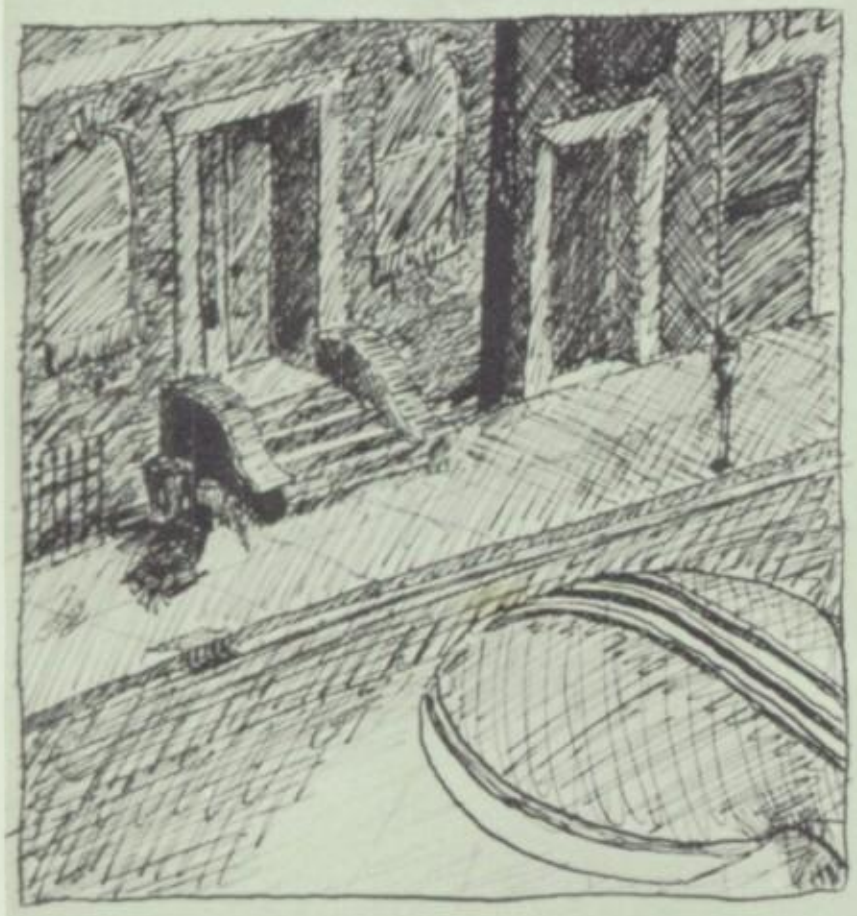
awaiting my return.





Loneliness
and whistling winds tapping at my door
I dare not open for I am afraid of the unknown
and the dark;
besides,
the air makes me cold.

City lights
Squeeze
through my blinds
lighting a half filled bed and I can only imagine the joy of a friend.

I don't know why
my life seems so wrong
Do I have a future
When will this end
I want someone to listen
Maybe a friend?
How come when I'm down on the ground
Where were you when I needed your help
You could not be found.
Sometimes I feel like one of life's losers
or the victim of every abuser I'll just have to keep believing that I'm worth more than I'm treated.

Raquel Layag

On the outside looking inside
On the inside looking outside Face to Face
yet
Still not seeing
Eye to Eye

Kim A. Overbeck

I really looked at you today
I was surprised at what I saw outside you show pride, prestige, and beauty
when inside are tortured souls, blinded eyes and false idols
I wonder if I made the right choice.

Iris Matthew

The year of the Unicorn could it have passed so fast?
it must have been a short year then,
for each day I would go hunting for the Unicorn.

I would go down to the river
collecting rocks,
during the windy and quivering
days of January and February, with the white haired one horned creature.
the Unicorn gallops through the meadows leaving behind him an echoing wind filled with hoof beats.

Could it be true that this year has passed?
could the days that I rode with my companion be over?
But yes, they are, and the emptiness in me is like the echoing hoof beats of my Unicorn.

Louis Scalise

IN MEMORIAM

In June of 1983, the High School of Fashion Industries and the Fashion Crafts Educational Commission suffered a grievous loss in the passing of Mr. Louis Scalise. He had been associated with our school for over fifty-five years as a student, teacher, evening school supervisor and officer of the Fashion Crafts Educational Commission. His contributions to this school are too numerous to count, yet let me mention just a few areas where Mr. Scalise was outstanding: soliciting money for our Scholarship Fund, advice in curriculum and development in the menswear area and supervision of our Adult Education Program were but a few of his numerous concerns with Fashion High. Above all, he was concerned with student welfare.

Mr. Scalise was the most eminent menswear fashion designer in the country long before the current designer names became prominent. His "Custom Edition" suits were worn by such eminent people as former Mayor Wagner, former Governor Rockefeller, Ed Sullivan, Joe DiMaggio and important people throughout this nation and the world. He was recognized in the industry as a leader in the menswear industry for over fifty years, yet with all of this, he found time to give of his energies to the school.

When the Fashion Institute left this building, Mr. Scalise was asked to lend his total support to that great institution. He chose to remain with the students and faculty of the High School of Fashion Industries. After his family, this school was his first love, and he was in constant touch with me as principal, always concerned with the welfare of our students and the school as a whole.

While many of you may never have known him, his presence was felt throughout this building. He is sorely missed by all of us who knew and loved him dearly.

AMALGAMATED CLOTHING AND TEXTILE WORKERS UNION, AFL-CIO

In these troubled times nothing is more critical than the urgent need to train our young people whose creative talents will contribute importantly to the progress of our industry. The High School of Fashion Industries, training our youth for positions of leadership, is admirably fulfilling its pressing obligations. We look to the school's accomplishments and to its graduates to provide the constant flow of new, inventive ideas as a bulwark for the continuing success of the men's and women's apparel industry, and for the creation of new employment opportunities.

The Amalgamated has always supported the concept and the aims of the Student Scholarship Fund. Through its vision and its vigorous administration of this project, it continues to earn our respect, our gratitude and our financial support.

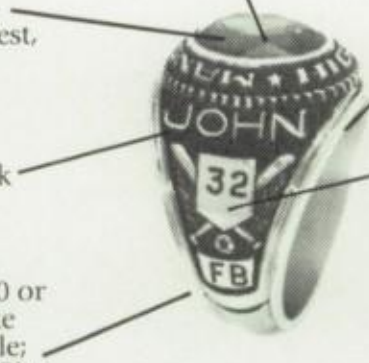
HOW TO TELL THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A BALFOUR "CLASS RING" AND A RING WITH NO CLASS.



Fine Faceted Gemstones. In Fireburst, India, Starflame, Star or exclusive Balfour Supreme cut. Genuine diamond and Dimonique™ stones also available.

Stone Decorations. Embellish stone with your choice of Protected Emblem, Crest, Encrusting or Permacrusting.

Nickname. Your nickname on shank—a truly unique touch.

Choice of Metals. 10 or 14K Yellow or White Gold; Golden Saddle; Celestrium, Polara Plus.

Name. Initials or full name in choice of block, script or autograph signature.

Freedom of Choice. Custom design options let you express your individuality.

Warranty. Full lifetime warranty.

Balfour is the official class ring source. A Balfour ring is guaranteed to last a lifetime. Yet it costs no more than ordinary class rings from the jewelry store.

And Balfour gives you more styles to choose from. More ways to personalize your class ring to reflect your high school experience.

Make sure your class ring is a real "class ring" from Balfour. Order yours on Balfour Ring Day.
